- Short title: Jisc Interviews

This is a key source for this Toolkit, but may also be useful as a resource. In 2017, Jisc published Changing Publishing Ecologies. A Landscape Study of New University Presses and Academic-led Publishing, a report co-authored by Janneke Adema and Graham Stone. This report itself is useful in describing the relevant publishing context for smaller and scholar-led presses. For the purposes of compiling this resource, the archived interview transcripts have been particularly useful, as they include information about the practicalities of running a small/academic-led press.
